MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Support
Inspector General

Bob and Jack:

This will confirm the understanding reached at our recent meeting when we discussed the possibility of an IG Survey of

Unless there should be some crisis, the IG staff would not be able to undertake such a survey for several months. They do not have the competence to do a comprehensive survey of this activity, and it would therefore be necessary to obtain considerable assistance from commercial sources. This of course raises many obvious security and operational problems. I believe that an IG Survey without such expert assistance would not be very meaningful, and I question whether we want to take several months and spend a great deal of money for this sort of endeavor.

If there is some particular aspect of the project which you feel the Inspector General should look into at this time, this, within reasonable limitations, could of course be done.

In the light of this discussion I requested the DD/S to reconsider this matter and to discuss a proposed course of action with me as soon as he has come to some conclusion.
